Agreement to Divide Levee District in '72

A legislative bill that would divide the Madison County and St. Clair County areas of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District into two separate districts was approved at Springfield by the Senate Executive Committee by a 22 to 0 vote yesterday afternoon.

The committee recommended passage of the measure after it was told that all opposition to the bill had been cleared by agreement of levee district officials and political leaders in the two-county areas.

State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D - Edwardsville), who sponsored the bill in the Senate, told the committee that there is no longer opposition to passage of the bill.

State Senator Kenneth Hall (D-East St. Louis) and State Rep. James G. Krause (D-East St. Louis) also told the committee that legislators of both Madison and St. Clair Counties are in agreement on the measure.

The bill now goes to the Senate floor, where the Executive Committee action is expected to assure Senate adoption. The bill already has passed the House.

Appear at Hearing

William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, president of the levee district board of trustees; Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison; Jack Scoville of National City, a St. Clair County Democratic nominee for the levee board; Ben Campbell, former clerk of the levee district; and Thomas J. Kolesa, acting executive secretary of the Manufacturers Association of the Tri-Cities, appeared at yesterday's hearing of the executive committee but were not called to testify.

The bill would split the present district into two separate agencies, one encompassing the area of the present district lying in Madison County, and the other consisting of that part of the present district in St. Clair County.

The Madison County sector of the present levee district is made up primarily of Granite City, Venice, Naneoli and Chocoma Townships, but also includes small areas in Edwardsville and Collinsville Townships.

In St. Clair County, the district includes Canteen, Stiles, Centerville and part of East St. Louis Townships.

Legislation to divide the district, prompted by Madison County taxpayers who complained they receive only limited services from the district because of administration by a majority of East St. Louis trustees, was introduced in General Assembly in April 1971 by State Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City).

The bill was co-sponsored in the House by State Rep. Leland J. Kennedy (D-Alton) and State Rep. Robert J. Walters (R-Alton).

Five-Member Board

The bi-county levee district now is administered by a five-man board of trustees, three of whom are elected from St. Clair County and two from Madison County, on the basis of the assessed valuation of the respective areas. One St. Clair and one Quad City post are vacant.

Under terms of the new bill, each of the proposed new districts would be administered by a five-man board.

The measure provides that the county central committees of both parties would appoint the additional trustee to fill out party tickets of candidates to the separate boards for the November 1972 election.

The Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday afternoon approved by a vote of 11 to 5 a Transportation Bill that would provide an extra $10.5 million for highway improvements in District 8 of the Illinois Division of Highways.

The fund would partially replace monies for improvements lost during the highway fund freeze two years ago in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The Transportation Bill also was supported in the Revenue and Appropriation Committees by Senator Vadalabene.

Trailer Office Burns, Mobile Home Damaged

Fire destroyed the mobile home office of C. I. Whitten Transfer Co., on East Chain of Rocks Road across from the old Poor Boy John's property at 6:15 a.m. today. Another mobile home, occupied by a company employee, was damaged by the heat.

A passerby noticed the flames and awakened the employee by banging on his door. When Mitchell volunteer firemen arrived, the fire in the office unit already was out of control, fire-fighters said.

Fafully electrical wiring is suspected as the cause of the fire.

Police and Sheriff Staff Are Honored

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Police departments in the Quad-Cities, together with the Madison County Sheriff's Department, were cited for exceptional service to the community — and specific areas within their organizations were honored — Tuesday night at the second annual Law and Order banquet sponsored by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063.

A capacity crowd of more than 270 persons attending the dinner at Charlie's Restaurant, heard James T. Moreland, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Springfield District, describe hazards facing today's police officers "of a magnitude unknown a decade ago."

In a departure from last year's awards program when a single law enforcement officer was cited for individual honors, Tuesday's dinner served to recognize the endeavors of each police department with the presentation of a walnut plaque.

The plaques were emblazoned with bronze plates recording achievements by specific divisions. Information on which the awards were based was furnished by police chiefs to a special committee representing different segments of the community. Ivon Pomeroy, Elks awards dinner coordinator, said.

The committee evaluated the data on improvements in the past 12 months in such areas as professional ability, modernization of equipment and expansion of services.

Serving on the evaluation board were C. A. MacMillan, youth and agencies; Avery Schermer, business community; Edwin F. Reiske, labor; the Rev. John O'Connell, ministerial; Circuit Court Judge William Beatty, judiciary; and Mrs. Valerie Evenden, press media.

Top Honors

Top honors went to the Madison Police Department, recognized in three areas of excellence — training and professional ability by encouraging officers to take part in continuing law enforcement degree studies at area colleges; public relations through sponsorship of and assistance to the individual.

Two Employees Robbed, Thieves Take Copper

A guard and a laborer were robbed and locked in a rail car by two armed men who stole three halves of scrap copper from the National Lead Co. plant at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday, they reported at 6:55 a.m. Wednesday.

The victims, Frank White, the guard, and Charles B. White, said the men used a pickup truck to load the copper on to a company flat-bed pickup truck and drive it through the 15th Street gate. A picklock on the gate was broken with an iron bar.

White said he was robbed of his revolver and a cardboard box containing credit cards.

The truck was recovered later by Madison police in Eagle Park Acres and was towed to the plant.

Value of the copper was not listed by police, but metal dealers said its market value would be approximately $2,400.

Faculty Seeks Restudy Of Venice Dismissals

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Thirty teachers employed in the Venice schools attended a school board meeting Monday night and offered their suggested guidelines for dismissing teachers whose programs will possibly be eliminated in the fall session. The board agreed to study the plan.

Conceding that they agree that reduction of the staff is necessary for financial reasons, the teachers said they feel the main point of consideration for retaining a teacher should be the years of service given by the individual.

Since each one is required to hold a degree and certificate, qualifications are nearly the same for every subject, it was contended.

The guidelines were suggested in an effort to avoid a year's animosity between teachers who may feel their dismissal was not justified when one is retained with fewer years of employment.

The exact number of teachers to be dismissed remains to be decided.

Supt. John Pier requested that the board transfer $10,000 from the Title I account, $10,000 from Lincoln Technical Center, $10,000 working cash, a $20,000 bank note and $120,000 in tax anticipation warrants to provide funds to meet the current month's payroll and expenses.

The board also approved payment of $5,999 to the Lueders Agency to cover a yearly insurance premium of school property.

Monthly bills for the Venice Lincoln Technical Center amounting to $10,686 were approved along with Venice School transportation, junior college and education bills of $7,688.

New Reading Program

A $5,000 grant was received from the office of the superintendent of public instruction to initiate a reading-related school media project. Robert Vickers, assistant superintendent, read a letter from Valerie Dennes, director of Media and Library Services saying the grant is to begin with the school term in September.

Vickers said the project application was compiled by six teachers.

Purpose is to help children become better readers by involving them and their parents in reading-related activities and services. Primarily a kindergarten primary program it will also involve pre-school children and their parents. There will be a Venice District Language Development Center, staffed by a remedial reading teacher and a speech therapist.

Requisitions to purchase cleaning supplies and language exercise books for the Venice Lincoln Technical Center were approved.

Other items approved for purchase included cleaning compound for floors, wax and sealer to be purchased in five-gallon containers.

Supt. Pier announced that Raymond Mosby and Janet McGarran, Venice High School students, were selected by the American Legion to attend Boys' State and Girls' State meetings.

Nurse Graduates Advance He also said that of 12 graduates in the New Career Program, held at the Technical Center, five students went to work at Christian Welfare Hospital.

Shirley K. Kreyling, home economics teacher at Coolidge, was granted a leave of absence from June 3 to Jan. 21.

Reject Women's Rights Needing 107 votes to pass, the federal constitutional amendment giving women equal rights lost 69-73 in the Illinois House Tuesday. Seventeen of the required 38 states have ratified it so far; Illinois and Connecticut have rejected it. One Illinois, State Rep. Thomas J. Hanahan, described it as a bill urged by "bra-less, brainless broads."

Nestle Plant Receives Safety Council Award

The Nestle Co. instant food plant here has received the National Safety Council Award of Honor. It was announced by Roger A. Higgins, acting plant manager.

The national award, recognizing on-the-job safety performance, has gone to Nestle employees two years in a row. This year's award, however, recognized the world's largest instant food manufacturer as being first in safety in Division II of the National Safety Council's food and beverage section.

The contest recognizes the lowest injury frequency rate achieved by NSC member organizations during 1971. Nestle has recorded 1 1/2 million man hours of production without an injury. The average frequency rate for competing units is 13.8%.

"The award represents a meaningful contribution to the cause of on-the-job safety and is indicative of the Nestle goal of production without accident or injury," Higgins said.

plomer Post 10-4; and securing new equipment to aid in prevention of crime.

The Madison award was accepted by Chief Frank Dutko.

Improved technology and equipment enabling a noticeable reduction of crime in all areas and installation of "the most modern equipment" were cited in the award presented to Venice Chief Ralph D. Brawley.

Officer Friendly

Pomeroy noted that Granite City Chief Ronald J. Veizer had asked the committee to evaluate his department in one area, the juvenile division and its Officer Friendly series.

The program, started in the past year, involves a group of young patrolmen who voluntarily travel during off duty hours to primary-level school classes to talk to youngsters about safety.

Pontoon Beach Chief Harold J. Denham

accepted an award which commended the force for its growth from a part-time, all-volunteer department to a corps of six paid officers.

Sheriff John Maerz was presented his department's award for updating professional ability and training during 1971-72 and prevention of crime in Madison County through expanded services and use of modern equipment.

New Dimension

A new FBI training facility soon will open in Maryland, enabling 2,000 officers to receive training each year. The present training capacity is 200 a year, Moreland said.

Attorney Leo H. Konzen served as toastmaster and the awards ceremony was conducted by Elks Exalted 494 Joseph L. Harding, E. David Whittell, Americanism chairman, and Pomeroy.

Urban Warfare

Statistics disclose that a murder occurs every 33 minutes in the U. S., he said. Every 14 minutes there is a forcible rape; a robbery happens every 91 seconds and an auto is stolen every 34 seconds, he said.

Urban Warfare

Urban guerrilla warfare conducted today, mostly against police officers, compels one to realize even more the dangers inherent in a policeman's job, he said.

Although crimes in general still continue to rise numerically, the last six months had the lowest increase rate in several years, Moreland noted.

Police are the favorite target of certain groups and "kill a cop and get his gun" is their slogan, Moreland related.

Rezone for Savings

loan Still Undecided

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Approval of an ordinance rezoning seven lots of property in Nameoki Terrace for construction of a $1 million office building by the Madison County Federal Savings & Loan Association was blocked by the Granite City Council Monday night.

Friday Is Bad

A survey disclosed that the majority met their death between 10 p.m. and midnight. The "favorite" day is Friday and, of the 126 killed in 1970, 121 deaths were caused by firearms, a majority from handguns, the FBI agent said.

Most Police Deaths Occurred

in the southern states, but New York state led the list in total number with 16 officers killed. Texas had 15; California, 14; Michigan, eight, and Illinois, six.

Moreland said an auto stopped by police in Southern Illinois a few days ago contained four M16 automatic rifles, four grenade launchers and a heavy machine gun.

Police have no weapons to match this type of arsenal, he said, adding that he was unable to discuss details of the incident at present.

He explained the National Crime Information Center (NCIC), which now records 90,000 transactions daily from a computer bank holding more than 3½ million items of information. NCIC information is available to all police departments.

Seven Lots Involved

The issue involves seven lots, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 35 of Nameoki Terrace.

There has been no objection to rezoning of lots 1 through 5 (in the 2800 block of Nameoki Road), but residents on Cottage and Garfield have opposed rezoning lots 6 and 35, which are at the rear of the proposed construction area, unless those lots are used only for parking.

Before a vote was taken

Alderman Thomas Boker noted that he had favored the rezoning in the April 24 meeting, "but has since changed his mind."

He also has heard that the building, instead of a one-story structure, may be a two or three-story building and house other offices in addition to the savings and loan association.

Some Franchise Proposals Prove To Be Deceptive

Copley News Service
Springfield — If a friendly, a very, very friendly — stranger offers to sell you an "exclusive franchise" to market sunglasses through service station machines, or a carpet cleaning service, or to be the exclusive agent in your area for a course in self-improvement, the attorney general's office recommends that you take a long, hard look at the proposition and the friendly stranger before you invest any money.

If it appears you're being given a chance to get something for nothing, or to make an incredibly large return on your investment "with no risk," chances are you're being offered the 1972 version of the sole ownership of the Brooklyn Bridge.

George M. Schafer of the consumer fraud division in the office of Atty. Gen. William Scott said that in recent years, numerous complaints have been received by the division about the operation of "multi-level" or "pyramid" franchise operations, which are illegal.

In essence, Schafer said, the investor for his money gets only a piece of paper showing he is a "super-distributor" or franchise agent for an area. To get back his investment, and to show a profit, he in turn must sell "franchises" or "dealerships" to others, keeping part of the profit and sending part back to the original contact.

The second purchasers, in turn, have essentially bought only the "right" to turn and sell sub-dealerships or agencies to still others, and so on.

"In theory, a really good operator could presumably get an operation going where eventually everybody in the world would have bought a diminishing share," Schafer said.

Other cases, Schafer said, hover on the fine line between legal and illegal, since they do indeed offer a product to the franchisee, but the amount of effort involved — or the profit to be returned — is often misrepresented by the salesman in oral promises which are then disavowed in the fine print of the actual contract which the purchaser signs.

In one recent case, an agreement was reached under which an elderly retired farmer and his wife in Quincy got back $7,500, or about three-quarters of their investment, after agreeing to invest in a dealership for a so-called "self-improvement" course.

They briefly rented a store, and tried unsuccessfully to find agents willing to turn over the investment in the project, according to Atty. Michael McCreary of the consumer fraud division, had little actual value.

In that case, the original seller agreed to return part of the money and it was not necessary to take court action, McCreary said.

The most common "come-on" for such schemes is usually through the mail, Schafer said, and the division works closely with postal authorities in halting such operations. Unfortunately, he added, the operator frequently merely pops to the surface again with a new game and a new "product" and the same old promises, and may balk more of the gullible before a complaint is made to authorities.

"We repeatedly urge people to buy only from local dealers and sellers," Schafer said, "and if you are offered a franchise arrangement, investigate it first."

"Ask who the other franchise holders are and talk to them about the business—but be sure the other 'franchise holder' isn't the seller's son-in-law or his uncle. Reputable firms welcome such inquiries."

Tragically, Schafer said, believing they can get something for nothing or can get rich quick, people have quit their jobs, mortgaged their homes and even taken out loans to invest in totally worthless operations.

"If the firm then claims bankruptcy, there is almost no way for the investor to see any of his money again," he said.

State Expanding Its Activities to Curb Drug Abuse

Copley News Service
Springfield—As the drug problem in Illinois continues to grow, so does the drug abuse program operated by the state department of mental health.
In 1969, $2 million was spent on drug abuse activities in the state. In 1970, the budget has been set at $17.2 million.
In March 1970, there were 605 persons receiving care under the program. By June 1970, it is estimated that 8,100 persons will be receiving care under the program.
Emphasis has been put on initiation of new programs, recruiting and training of staff, maintenance of quality while greatly-increasing quantity and expansion of research efforts.
Pioneer work on the program was spearheaded by Dr. Jerome Jaffee, then program director, who was later selected by President Richard M. Nixon to head up the new White House special action office of drug abuse prevention.
Currently, the Illinois program is made up of 36 varied facilities serving 2,300 patients.
There is now a waiting list of 600 persons. While there is no place for them in existing operations, a new "holding pattern" system has been adopted which permits them to receive methadone medication until more permanent arrangements can be made.
Methadone is a synthetic drug which, while also addictive, satisfies the addict's physical need for drugs, without the harmful side effects which make the addict usually unable to function in society.
In addition, it can be produced cheaply and eliminates the addict's need to resort to crime or prostitution to get the money to support his initial, expensive habit.
While most initial work was done in the Chicago area, the expanded program will permit the department to establish three new clinics for polydrug users, and to double the number of addicts receiving treatment in Chicago, Peoria, Rockford, East St. Louis and a newly established program in Springfield.
In addition, four special "drug crisis" teams are being formed, to be used all over the state by the department.
In conjunction with state's attorneys' offices, efforts are being concentrated on rehabilitation for first-time drug offenders.
The department, in cooperation with several other state agencies, has aided in bringing out a manual, "Teaching About Drug Abuse," designed to be used by teachers in presenting drug abuse information to students.

Fatal Sixth Drops Warriors Off State Road, Alton Wins

A five-run sixth inning by Alton brought an abrupt end to the Granite City High School baseball tournament action as the local Warriors lost the Alton regional title 8-3 yesterday.

They advanced to the finals by downing Lebanon 7-5 in the opener Monday.

The Warriors took an early 3-0 lead over Alton in the first inning but were unable to add to it.

Warrior James Forrester led off with a single, took second on an error and scored on a single by Jack Scarborough. Steve Burdge walked. A sacrifice fly Howard Eiherton drove in Scarborough and Jerry Duncan doubled Burdge in.

The main Warrior pitching staff saw action in the fatal game as Jesse Burke started on the mound and was relieved by Mike Stanton in the third.

Vic Reznack relieved Stanton in the sixth, and he was knocked out of the box in the same inning. Mark Boone finished the game.

The sectionals May 22-24 at Springfield.

The Warriors earned their way into the championship game by beating Lebanon 7-5 Monday.

Lebanon was held to five hits and committed five errors as GCHS tagged 10 hits and batted twice.

The Warriors were behind 4-1 going into the fifth inning when they opened up with a five-run rally.

After the lead off Warrior flied out, Mike Martinez, a pinch hitter, singled, followed by a walk to Forrester, a two-out single by Parks and a triple by Burdge. Eiherton then singled home the winning run, and Duncan doubled to ice it.

Burdge was the man at the plate for the Warriors as with two outs in the first inning he singled in the first Warrior run of the game.

The Warriors had the bases loaded in the sixth, but scored only one run, on a wild pitch.

Four GCHS pitchers were used in the effort to gain Monday's victory. John Stanton was relieved in the fourth by Vic Reznack; Jesse Burke came in the fifth and Mark Boone took the mound with the bases loaded in the seventh and put out the fire.

The Warriors play a Southwestern Conference makeup game today with East St. Louis at Wilson Park.

The Warriors are now 16-7 overall and 2-4 in the conference.

Mercer's, St. Mary's Show Winning Spirit

With a taste of victory the two local Inter-City League baseball teams will take to the diamond Sunday at 2 p.m. in a winning frame of mind.

The St. Mary's Boosters will play an exhibition game on the Third Street diamond in Madison against Valmeyer as they have an open date on the league schedule.

Mercers will host Troy in Wilson Park.

"I really don't know what Troy's got this year, but if we have the same team playing like they did last Sunday I expect we will win without too much trouble," Mercer Manager Wendell Cory said.

According to Cory, Jim Muehlhauser will be on the mound Sunday.

Other league action will see Moulton at Highland-Piermont; Fairfax at Van's in East Alton and Glen Carbon at Piasa.

YMCA Spring Soccer Halt Is Reaffirmed

Managers and coaches of the YMCA Soccer Association met at a meeting in the "Y" Tuesday night to attempt to finish the spring season, Everett DeMott president, said.

DeMott said the vote Tuesday was taken following a discussion of various ways the program might continue.

Mixer Golf Event Opens

"Throw-out even numbered holes" was the event of the first Twilight Golf Mixer Tuesday night for members of St. Elizabeth's Country Club.

Winners were Frances Weller and Lee West. Low gross winners were Agnes Goertel and Charles Blanks.

"We received complaints from some of the mothers when the program was stopped early. However, we have had no complaints from sponsors of the teams, and the majority of managers and coaches were in favor of the action taken," DeMott added.

"On April 29 we polled the parents and coaches and 13 said to continue, 26 wanted to stop and two didn't care," he said.

According to DeMott, the current spring season had 70 makeup games to play, caused by rain and wet fields, and after May 13 the St. Elizabeth's fields were committed to the Madison County Girls Soccer Association, adult softball programs and three boys' baseball teams.

The YMCA Soccer Association will meet again on Aug. 15 at the "Y" and decide whether to schedule future spring seasons or extend the fall season.

Higher County Tavern Limit, Executive Panel Is Named, Possible Park Sites Sought

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The liquor license limit for unincorporated areas of the county was increased by six from 108 to 112 by the Madison County Board at its meeting Wednesday morning.

There were some objectors, as the limit was cut only recently by the old board. But Marshall Smith, the board's legal advisor, said the only purpose then was to eliminate "a couple of dives" on the Collinsville Road strip.

Edward Vounaud of Alton, license committee chairman, said six applicants for licenses have been screened and found acceptable by the sheriff's department, "that some taverns were ready to open a month ago, and that they were being deprived of a livelihood through the fault of the board. One license is for the Rendevoo, a Nameoki Township establishment.

Approval was given on a 21-7 vote after it was agreed to conduct a general study of the liquor license situation in all unincorporated areas.

An executive committee of the board was appointed by Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, board chairman.

It is composed of Arthur "Cooper" Moore of Madison, Gilbert Killinger of Collinsville, William Webb of Granite City, Louis Whittell of Nameoki Township, Rodger Elble of Wood River Township, James Hill of Godfrey and Hays Matlary of Edwardsville.

During the meeting, County Auditor John Kravynak reported that under a new state law county employees are to be eligible for unemployment compensation for the first time. He said an arbitrary rate to be paid by employers is 2.7%, but later may be less if no one is laid off.

Smith commented that it may be beneficial to obtain

Mayors Endorse New Anti-Litter Project

Local area participation in a nationwide anti-litter program sponsored by the United States Brewers Association has been inaugurated here by the mayors of the Quad-Cities and representatives of sponsoring beer distributing firms.

Known as "Pitch In," the program is of an educational nature designed to make Americans aware of the litter problem in this country. The USBA early this year committed $3 million to promotion of the program.

While the program was developed and is sponsored by the brewers, civic groups, business and industrial organizations and social units are being urged to apply the concept to any particular area or project, according to Richard Kacera of the Kacera Distributing Co.

Full details of the program may be obtained from Henry Kink, president, United States Brewers Association, 1750 K St., N.W., Washington, D. C., 20006.

Local association members promoting the project in this area are Kacera, Tony Joint of the Illinois Distributing Co., and Tony Veseli of the Nameoki Beer Distributing Co.

Quad-City mayors, meeting with the distributors, endorsed the project and urged area citizens and organizations to participate. Those attending the meeting were Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City, Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison and Mayor John E. Lee of Venice.

Mrs. Wittevrongel Is Installed

Mrs. Catherine Wittevrongel of Granite City was installed as a member of the executive board of the Illinois Association of Educational Secretaries at the group's annual spring conference which concluded this week in Springfield.

As part of the conference program, Mrs. Bea Pyle, a nurse at Washington Grade School, conducted a well-attended workshop based on the subject "What to Do Till the School Nurse Comes."

Principal speaker was Mrs. Jean Priest of Albuquerque, N.M., president of the National Association of Educational Secretaries. She addressed her remarks to the topic "Knowing Is Believing," urging the delegate representatives to take a more active part in efforts to interest young people in a career as an educational secretary.

Mrs. Priest suggested local chapters seek opportunities to participate in "Career Days" programs sponsored by individual school districts.

The conference was centered at the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield. Mrs. Shirley Brown, Mrs. Wittevrongel and Mrs. Wanda Kutzers, all of the Granite City chapter, planned and prepared the decorations and programs.

Others attending from here were Mrs. Martha Katzman, Mrs. Frieda Andrews and Mrs. Arlene Haldean.

grove, Robert Roberts, Mark Dodd, Richard Miller, Jeff Sparks, Dennis Douglas and Tony Hicks.

Mrs. Charlotte Buhmann received the parents' award.

Summer activities announced include a tour of Burger King this week; father and son baseball game, June 24; water games, July 22; and a family picnic, Aug. 20.

The adult members of the pack will also sponsor a booth on July 4 at Wilson Park as a fund raising project.

AN EXCLUSIVE SPECIAL OFFER AT YOUR NATIONAL

NOW... OPEN DATING

While shopping at your National this week, you will notice Red, White and Blue Tags with the words "Open-Dated" on the shelves under many products. These tags call your attention to all products which carry an Open-Date.

A product is "Open-Dated" if the month and day or year is clearly stated on the package or label. At that time this date represents the last day the product can be sold. An Open-Date is especially helpful on dairy products, eggs and vacuumed farm's private label products as well. Some other manufacturers, too, are adopting the Open-Date to assure you of the highest quality products.

Remember that a product is safe to use during normal home storage after the last sale date.

Pamela Jo Stavely Is 'Our Little Miss'

The new "Our Little Miss" of Southern Illinois is a pert, dark-haired 7-year-old, whose parents and grandparents are former residents of Granite City.

Pamela Jo Stavely, a second grade pupil at Lincoln Elementary School in Collinsville, won top honors this week at the regional "Our Little Miss" contest in Roxana.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stavely and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Wallace, all of Collinsville, who are former local residents.

Pamela was crowned by Angela Grapin of Madison, the retiring Southern Illinois "Little Miss."

Her regional victory entitles the youngster to compete for state-wide honors at the Illinois "Our Little Miss Pageant" to be held May 27 at Rockford. She will be sponsored in the state contest by Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

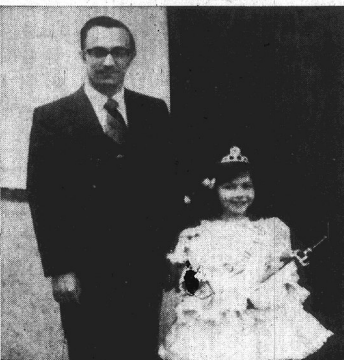

At the Roxana pageant, Pamela competed in the sportswear category in which she modeled a sailor outfit. For the party dress segment she wore a yellow nylon and lace frock.

Pamela's talent presentation featured a medley of four numbers played on the organ. She is a student of Ruth Huff, a Collinsville organist.

Before her marriage Mrs. Stavely was Peggy Wallace, a former Miss Granite City.

Tragic Shooting-Emphasizes That Officials Should Sharply Limit Mingling with Crowds

When word was received of the tragic shooting of Governor Wallace of Alabama at a talk at a Maryland shopping center Monday afternoon, Press-Record staff members recalled the many times when candidates for the Presidency and other offices spoke at Bellemore Shopping Center and other Quad-City locations. "There but for the grace of God go we," was an early reaction, although fortunately the elective process has been able to function freely and safely here.

As long as there are citizens with emotional-mental disorders and there are indications that this was the case Monday—people seeking important elective posts will be the target of violence.

Studies have shown that the office of President itself automatically invites physical attack from the mob, regardless of who happens to be serving as chief executive or aspiring to the office.

Although President Nixon on Tuesday made a point of mingling with a crowd—to show that he felt safe and that he would urge him and other public figures to sharply limit their walks into the middle of faceless groups which might include a would-be assassin.

It is important that elected officials remain attuned to the public and its thinking, and that they not wall themselves off from all contact with voters. But it is also vital that the path taken by government be based on the majority wish of Americans, rather than being decided by the whim of an ailing or frustrated individual.

Lieutenant Governor Keeping Options Open For Active Political Role In Future Years

Illinoisian Vice Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon well in the new duties he will assume in the 1972-73 school year, that of a member of the faculty of Sangamon State University in the state capital, Springfield.

Recipient of many job offers after his loss in the Democratic gubernatorial primary election, Mr. Simon chose to stay in this state and to work in the city housing the Illinois legislature and state offices.

The former local state representative and senator will serve as professor of public affairs. A former editor, he will direct and help develop a graduate program in which students will combine classroom work with internships as working reporters during legislative sessions.

Aside from his full-time position at Sangamon, he will serve during the 1973 winter semester at an out-of-state university. He will receive no Sangamon salary during the semester covered by his present lieutenant governor term and also while away during the winter semester.

This career decision assures him of a chance to remain familiar with state government and to perhaps return to many active roles in the future. It is heartily applauded by the Press-Record and others who want to keep alive the prospect of further service by Paul Simon in high public office.

700 More Bills Passed; 1974 Deadline to Create a Junior College

(Springfield Scene)

About 700 bills were hammered through the Illinois House and Senate in the last week while many other bills were advanced toward passage.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie signed into law S. 1188 to include all areas of the state in junior college districts by 1974.

In a week highlighted by long floor sessions and little committee activity, the House brought bills to the passage stage seeking increases in unemployment compensation benefits (H. 4236) and the minimum salary level for teachers with bachelor's degrees at $8,900.

Johns contended that 26,000 teachers in Illinois would be on the General Assembly for salary increases "because they have no bargaining rights."

Arguing against the bill, Sen. John Gilbert, Carbonate Republican, said the salary decision should be a matter for local school boards to decide.

The vote was 22 Democrats for and 23 Republicans against, with 10 votes needed to pass.

Sen. Johns claimed the cost of the bill would be $11.5 million and the money could come from a "re-allocation of priorities" on the local level.

The Senate cleared its calendar of many of the older bills and moved some of its recent introductions quickly to passage stage in order to keep on target for a June 3 adjournment.

The appropriation for the constitutionally-mandated Judicial Inquiry Board was finally approved by the Senate.

Sen. Johns introduced a bill to allow public utilities such as telephone and power companies

Law Enforcement Officers Honored For Progress in Reducing, Preventing Crime

Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach police and the Madison County sheriff staff were in the spotlight Tuesday evening at the second annual Elks Lodge 1063 law and order dinner.

The 42 Granite City officers, 17 from Madison, 15 from Venice, 13 from Pontoon Beach and 26 county officers merit such recognition because of the valuable service provided by their skilled, understanding and courageous efforts to maintain a functioning system of enforced laws—an integral part of our democratic system.

Special honors were accorded the Madison department for training, professional ability, public relations and crime prevention through use of new equipment; sheriff department, professionalism and equipment modernization; Venice, crime reduction through securing and using new technology; Granite City, juvenile division effectiveness; and Pontoon Beach, establishment of a Force of paid employees and also central headquarters.

Most of the editorialists showed writing craftsmanship, sound thinking, originality and a basically constructive approach.

The contest entries were impressive, and the task of reviewing them was enjoyable—tempered only by my concern for the candidate and sadness that violence should be plaguing 'on America's elective process.

We reprint a couple of the editorialists to give an idea of what is being said editorially these days in Alabama.

The Moore Journal, Monroeville, Ala., published this editorial entitled "Human Relations Gains in South" last July 15.

One can sense the gains made toward racial harmony in the South. Even so, it is not an easy thing to gauge. Sometimes such feelings are imbedded deeply and expressed subtly.

Now and then there is a flare-up that indicates that maybe things are not as peaceful as they seem on the surface.

But, for the most part, we have witnessed in our own community and elsewhere in the South a calming attitude, a willingness to heal old wounds and build peacefully behind a united front.

Total unity is like utopia—no one really attains it. But total unity is not necessary. Whereas, a militant minority—black or white—can pose problems, they cannot govern the majority, nor long prevent the inevitable solutions from coming about.

Time and evolution do much for the human mind, especially in this time of advanced education and enlightenment.

With these ingredients, the South has come of age—to the point that it is an example for other sectors of this country to follow in human relations.

Yes, this includes even the North. Possessness, something at one time or another, is easy to dispense, but it cannot cover up forever the subtle forces of racism.

James Meredith, the man who shattered the race barrier at the University of Mississippi, is a living gauge of the vast transition that has been experienced in the South on human relations.

As one who pioneered change, he of all people can recognize the vastness of that change.

Recently, James Meredith moved from his adopted home in New York City, back to endear last week by Sen. Cecil Partridge, president pro tem, and Sen. Terrell Clarke, minority leader. Also revived was H. 1903 creating a State Board of Education.

On the calendar and due for consideration after a delay of two weeks are a series of bills designed to retain to the state exclusive regulatory powers over various businesses and industries and to prohibit property ratepayers from licensing such businesses.

The bills apply to utilities, motor carriers, railroads, and other financial institutions.

The Temporary Joint Committee on State Finance, created by HJR 122, is to report specific and detailed estimates of funds to be available for appropriation in fiscal 1973, as the new constitution mandates these estimates by the General Assembly.

Minimum wage age differential for women and minors would be lowered from 18 years to 15 years under H. 4438 (H. 4438) passed by the House.

Governor Richard B. Ogilvie announced the month of June as "Pitch-In Month" to urge everyone to clean up litter.

A comprehensive package of property ratepayers legislation will be heard by the Senate Revenue Committee (S. 130).

The administration's scenic rivers system bill was killed 8-3 in the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee (H. 2659).

Springfield—What to do about it?

That's the problem puzzling Statehouse supporters of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie in the wake of reliable and respected polls which emphatically confirm what he has suspected.

The governor is in desperate straits as far as winning reelection is concerned. Democratic challenger Daniel Walker is far out in front with the campaign barely started.

The worst factor of all: It's becoming increasingly apparent that American voters are in an "anti" mood this 1972 election year. In Illinois, at least, they appear determined to take out some of their dissatisfaction at the governor's expense.

Voters are still bitter about the income tax and also tend to blame Ogilvie for all the scandals that have shamed Illinois in recent years—although Democrats like the late Paul Powell and former Gov. Otto Kerner are central figures in them.

Ogilvie as governor represents "the establishment" while Walker, who won the primary against his own party's establishment, is a "reformer" as the Chicago Mayor

Richard J. Daley, has become almost overnight a virtual folk hero.

Nobody, at this point, anyway, seems to care what policy Walker may kept them out of school altogether for a while to prove his point and to show that he never said what).

Then he and his neighbors went to the school itself, carrying signs and shouting at any parents that tried to bring their kids to class. (Remember his all-porch speech, years ago about "It's a free country.")

And on it goes.

Now don't get us wrong. We're not against protests and demonstrations. We are against the unnecessary commotion and name-calling that pits neighbor against neighbor, parent against child.

And we're not saying the man's not sincere. He is. Just as sincere as the protesters he wants to see thrown in jail a few years ago.

What we're saying is that he's making the worst of an already bad situation. Busing, right or wrong, is a gigantic headache.

He talks about the government needing to "take care of children." Perhaps they are.

But to play a game, it takes two.

Remember a few years ago when public demonstrations became a popular pastime?

Every newspaper you'd pick up would show a crowd of people, front page, shouting, raising a commotion.

Remember your next-door neighbor then—a typical, middle-class working man, like you? Chances are he'd sit then for hours and talk about the demonstrators.

They were Communist-inspired, he'd tell you.

They were a buncha long hairs that needed a good kick in the pants" to settle them down and stop their disturbances.

It might surprise you, but we saw your next-door neighbor last week. At a public demonstration. He had a picket sign. And he was shouting and raising a commotion.

When did the change come about?

When he found himself threatened, as did all the people who have protested something at one time or another.

He shouted and raved when his children were assigned to a busing line.

"Disrupting their education!" he said. "Buncha good-for-nothing kids."

So now he's got about healing the disruption and seeing that his kids got a good, undisturbed education.

First he told them he was going to break the law, send them to another school. (Remember his speeches, years ago, about law and order?)

principal budgets would be required one week (now 30 days) before the hearing is to take place under House-passed H. 4112.

The Freedom of Credit Information Reporting Act (H. 4355) was advanced to passage stage by the House.

This bill would require credit reporting agencies to send a consumer a copy of any credit report concerning that consumer that an agency sends to a third party.

On Wednesday, House committees heard the "healthful environment" definition bills (H. 3073-4 and H. 4632) defining a state tax on income before the Aug. 1, 1969 cut-off date.

The House passed and sent to the Senate an amendment to the Wage Assignment Act (H. 4633) changing to five days from two days presently the time in which an employee may give his employer notice of defense to a wage assignment.

When that didn't work, he advocate or whether or not his record in public or private life qualifies him to head the state as governor.

As a successful maverick, strong against things as they are, he appears to be striking the public's fancy. He may prove unworkable.

The Ogilvie people, including the governor himself are dismayed by the situation. They don't know what to do about it. Right now, the inclination is to sit tight and hope that the public mood will change—or that Walker someone or other will talk himself out of it.

So far there is not much indication that he will.

The Ogilvie forces would like a hard-fought campaign on the issues affecting state government.

If they believe, and most objective students of Illinois state government agree, that Ogilvie has the makings of the best governor Illinois has ever had and has made a magnificent record in a time of great challenge.

But at this stage no one seems to be listening.

The voters, it appears, couldn't care less about the Ogilvie record. They are angry at state government and all associated with it. Walker's is the face of change and that is about all the voters seem to care about.

As Statehouse strategists—Republicans as well as Democrats—would repeat the mantra to do stay in front is keep on blaming Ogilvie for all the voters' dissatisfaction, ignore issues and coast to victory.

Although Ogilvie, other Republicans and some segments of the Illinois press have urged that Walker make some proposal of his own as to how he would solve the state's problems in a fashion other than Ogilvie's, he has so far ignored all such suggestions.

He exploits voter unhappiness with things as they are, without offering no alternative solutions.

No one expects that Walker will repeat the monumental political mistake made by his unfortunate primary opponent, Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, and raise the possibility of increasing taxes.

Nor is he believed likely to make any other hard realistic proposals about solving the state's problems.

Walker, presumably, will take up these matters after he is elected.

Until November, he apparently needs only to convince voters that Ogilvie is the governor and that it is "time for a change."

State Action on Drainage Sought

MAY 18, 1947

State Senators Milton "Mink" Thompson of Highland and John Thomas of Belleville introduced in the Illinois Senate a bill calling for a $4 million state appropriation for channel improvements, flood control and drainage work in Madison and St. Clair Counties. The money would have to be matched by a similar sum by the East Side Levee and Sanitary District. The State Department of Public Works and Buildings would be asked to make the improvements in cooperation with the Levee District. Congressmen Melvin Price has transmitted to the U. S. House an Illinois Assembly resolution requesting immediate federal action in preventing recurrence of floods in the Mississippi Valley.

All You Wanted to Know About Car Repairs But Were Afraid to Ask

AUTO REPAIRS YOU CAN MAKE; by Paul Weissler; Arco Publishing Co., Inc.; 320 pages; $6.95.

Reviewed by JEFF CUSHING

Copley News Service

If you are a weekend mechanic—or would like to be one—you should pick up a copy of "Auto Repairs You Can Make," one of the simplest how-to publications to come down the road in quite a while.

Author Paul Weissler has put together a collection of non-essentials chapters—liberally sprinkled with virtually everything out of the modern automobile.

If you want to know how to adjust the valves on an over-head engine, just turn to chapter one.

If your fuel pump is acting up, try chapter three. And the list goes on.

An estimated 25% of America's car owners perform some of the auto repairs themselves.

With professional auto repair costs soaring out of sight, more and more people are turning to car care.

But car engines are so complicated that it is easy to take a wrong step and end up with a car that looks like it was started with.

Weissler takes the reader through the service procedures of an extremely simple and basic manner.

Each job is explained precisely in layman's terms.

Weissler also points out throughout the book that there are certain jobs that should be tackled by professionals. Any job that is not mentioned with basic tools is omitted from Weissler's list.

"Auto Repairs You Can Make" is a book that will easily recover its $6.95 price.

MR. AND MRS. MILTON (RANDY) LEGATE, who exchanged wedding vows at Emmanuel Baptist Church. The bride is the former Miss Cheryl L. Crews, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Crews, 1552 Johnson Road.

Legate-Crews Nuptials At Emmanuel Baptist

Emmanuel Baptist Church was the scene of the afternoon wedding on May 7 of Miss Cheryl L. Crews and Radioman Milton (Randy) Legate, U.S. Navy.

The Rev. Vernon Covington, pastor, heard the couple exchange vows at 2 o'clock, before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and greenery.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Crews, 1552 Johnson Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Powell, 1484 Old Alton Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of flocked striped nylon organza. Legation sleeves were set in the Empire bodice and a high neckline was accented with ruffles, interlaced with pink ribbon. Pink satin ribbon trimmed the cuffs of the long sleeves.

The A-line skirt, gathered into fullness in the back, was enhanced with a large pink bow at the waist. A lace band secured a shoulder length veil of bridal illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with yellow roses.

Miss Debbie Grace, maid of honor, was attired in pink, while Miss Cindy Crews, a sister of the bride and Miss Tammy Legate, the groom's sister, were in lavender.

Their dresses were designed in the same style as the bridal gown and each wore a picture hat with a wide brim of spun nylon straw. They carried spray bouquet of carnations tinted to match their dresses.

Timmy Davis, the groom's cousin, served as ringbearer and escorted the flower girl, Alicia M. Whitsell, a niece of the bride.

Gary E. Reed was best man and Wayne Childers, Lann Crews, the bride's brother, Bud Beyer, an uncle of the bride and David Mathis, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Crews, mother of the bride, selected a full length gown in bright pink lace. The groom's mother, Mrs. Powell, wore a navy blue coat and dress ensemble. Both wore corsages of white roses.

A reception was given at the church after the ceremony. The newly married couple has left for San Diego, Calif., where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Navy. They will reside in San Diego for the present.

The club maintains the Mini-Garden Information Center, the Granite City Public Library, where many photographs and books on "wildflowers" are featured in the current display. The Gardenaires also presented "Wildflowers of the World" by Brian Morley to the library for the permanent reference shelf in honor of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Garden Study Club.

Mrs. C. E. Eads, president, conducted the business session, noting the attendance of three members. Mrs. Malott, Mrs. Glenn and Mary Kristian, at the state convention of the Garden Clubs of Illinois, Inc. in Chicago. When the club received a blue ribbon for its achievements.

Mrs. Glenn, State Environmental Improvement chairman, conducted a workshop at the conference, assisted by Richard Hartung, Midwest public relations representative for Sears, Roebuck & Co. Mrs. Glenn was the recipient of a trip to Amsterdam for the World Horticulture Exhibition, an event which is held once each decade and covers a 200-acre garden area.

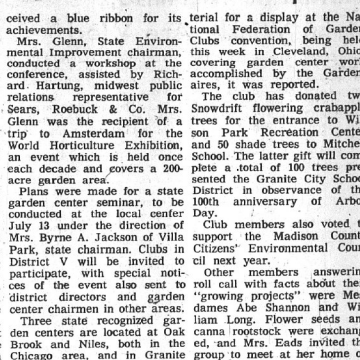

Plans were made for a state garden center seminar, to be conducted at the local center on July 13 under the direction of Mrs. Byrne A. Jackson of Villa Park, state chairman. Clubs in District V will be invited to participate, with special notices of the event also sent to district directors and garden center chairmen in other areas.

Three state recognized garden centers are located at Oak Brook and Niles, both in the Chicago area, and in Granite City, Illinois has provided material for a display at the National Federation of Garden Clubs convention, being held this week in Cleveland, Ohio, covering garden center work accomplished by the Gardenaires, it was reported.

The club has donated two Snowdrift flowering crabapple trees for the entrance to Wilson Park Recreation Center and 50 shade trees to Mitchell School. The latter gift will complete a total of 100 trees presented the Granite City School District in observance of the 100th anniversary of Arbor Day.

Club members also voted to support the Madison County Citizens' Environmental Council next year.

Other members answering roll call with facts about their "growing projects" were Mesdames Abe Shannon and William Long. Flower seeds and canna rootstock were exchanged, and Mrs. Eads invited the club to meet at her home on June 14.

Day Care Centers Among Goals of State's Dynamic New Director of Family Services

Copley News Service

Springfield — In Mrs. Jimi Anne Lawrence you have a charming, witty, stylish lady—the kind of executive who carries a white leather attache case with a brocade lining.

In Director Jimi Anne Lawrence, for the last six weeks new head of the state Department of Children and Family Services, you have a reversal of the limberlock that lady of Niger—this lady has the tiger inside.

Not that Mrs. Lawrence ever loses her cool, her charm, her wit or her command of pertinent facts. But she makes it clear she is dedicated to her job, its present capabilities and above all its potentials.

Chief among the potentials just now is development of a system of "more than just adequate" day care centers for mothers who would work, or would attend classes to learn a marketable skill, if they had a decent place to leave their children during their necessary absences.

She hopes, she says, by the end of this year to see development of a "very sophisticated" plan for such facilities.

Among approaches under consideration are existing "industrial day care" programs, where Junior goes to work with Mother and then he spends her work day in a company-operated day care center.

Other industries are experimenting with similar programs located off company property, while still others add a cost of day care to the amount the mother earns.

With an estimated 186,000 children in Illinois who would be involved, (more than 26,000 infants to two years old, and nearly 40,000 three to five years) developing plans to set up, staff and finance such centers for "total" care is obviously a big job.

It can only be handled through an "influx of federal dollars," Mrs. Lawrence feels. She also feels "public subsidy" is a much better term than "public aid" and doesn't like the word "pressure" when it applies to "forcing" people to take jobs.

She feels that some jobs, like school crossing guards and hospital aides, have been "stigmatized" to the point no one can be induced to take them, while others which are essentially menial have been "glamorized" so that everybody wants them.

For instance, she says, "stewardesses are just maids, but every girl I talk to wants to be a stewardess. Tell them they could make better starting money as a food handler in an institutional cafeteria, and they aren't even interested."

Ask her if she feels that people receiving "public subsidies" should have to take available jobs of public benefit—like hospital aides—and she pounces back to ask in turn if perhaps you're speaking of some industries.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 36 Thur., May 18, 1972

ties which she "understands" receive sizeable public subsidies. "Limit it to individuals and she says, "When you speak of using force, and that's really what you should do, I don't think you should ever force people to do a thing."

"Until we define what 'day care' means to each of us, and whether good day care would be assumed available and whether there would be health care, and such questions, I couldn't answer."

Overall, she says, "I am convinced every mother wants certain things for her children. How does she get there? The roads are wide and varied."

Essential to all, she feels, is an educational program to make more people aware of the services available, so they know where to start.

"I sincerely believe," she says, "when any decision has once been made, if a situation can't be solved immediately, it can be dealt with, at least. We can make major inroads in the problem."

Gracious Mrs. Jimi Lawrence, wife and mother of a 16-year-old son, and Director Jimi Anne Lawrence, dedicated dynamo, just may be the pair to come back from the ride with the problems inside.

Friends of River Festival To Back SIU-SW Concerts

Formation of "Friends of the Mississippi River Festival," a voluntary organization, dedicated to supporting the summer concert series on the Southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University, has been announced by Nicholas P. Veeder, president of the Harrisburg River Festival and chairman of Granite City Steel Co.

Mrs. Robert H. Orchard is chairman of the new bi-state organization, co-chairmen are Mrs. William J. Costello, Mrs. John William Fries, Mrs. Harold J. Hungert, and Mrs. Homer E. Sayad. Mr. Wayne Millsap is co-chairman for corporate and professional solicitations.

The announced purpose of the new group, which replaces last year's PYRAMID effort, is to raise the more than $80,000 in additional funds needed to ensure the operation of this summer festival, which is to run from the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and 16 or more folk, pop, rock and jazz events.

Veeder said that the Friends' effort will be needed to augment the support of the Illinois and Missouri state arts councils in filling the gap between box office receipts and expenses. Members are being recruited for the new group in six different categories, each of which carries with it certain benefits.

A contribution of $15 covers the basic "Friend" category; a $25 contribution covers Family Membership, and a special "Student Friend" membership is offered for a contribution of $5.

In the higher brackets, a contribution of $100 or more entitles a member to "Patron" status, $500 or more qualifies one as a "Sponsor," and $1,000 or more brings the title of "Benefactor."

Names of members in all six categories will be listed in the printed programs for Festival events. All members will receive membership cards and tickets to the special "Friends Night" event; they may attend open rehearsals of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, at which introductions comments will be offered by the conductors, and they will receive invitations to special "Friends" parties.

Special Privileges
In addition to these general membership benefits, members in the "Patron," "Sponsor" and "Benefactor" categories receive coupon books and enjoy reserved parking privileges, and Benefactors will be admitted to the Festival grounds for all concerts and rehearsals.

Serving on the 29-member committees of the new organization, in addition to the officers already named, are: Mrs. M. Moss Alexander Jr., Mrs. C. Perry Bascom, Mrs. Howard T. Bland, Mrs. William J. Chapman, Mrs. R. Walston Chubb, Mrs. Ernest A. Eddy, Mrs. Charles B. Edison, Mrs. Vasil Eftimoff, Mrs. Richard E. Fisher, Mrs. Leigh Gardine, Mrs. Andrew Greensfelder.

T. C. Fitzgerald to New Litho-Strip Post

Thomas C. Fitzgerald has been named director of purchases for Litho-Strip Co., a Chicago-based operating unit of AMSTED Industries.

Thomas R. Arndt, Litho-Strip's general manager, announced the appointment. American Steel Foundries which operates a plant here is an affiliate of AMSTED.

Fitzgerald will be responsible for buying activities at all four company plants—two in Chicago, one in Bridgeview, Ill., and another in Fairless Hills, Pa. He had been serving as assistant treasurer of Litho-Strip since 1968. In 1967, he joined the AMSTED organization as a staff accountant following his graduation from Michigan State University.

Litho-Strip is the nation's largest independent prefabricator of sheet steel. It applies painted coatings to the steel in high-speed machines resembling printing presses.

This painted metal is shipped to manufacturers who turn it into a variety of household and industrial products such as appliances, metal furniture, pre-engineered metal buildings, aboveground swimming pools, garden sheds and lighting fixtures. The company also applies plastic laminates to steel sheets.

Growing Role for Planners in Operating Public Schools

Copley News Service

Springfield—How many plans could a planner plan if he plotted to produce plural plans?

Quite a few, probably, but it seems that quality, not quantity, is the goal. So, while a professional planner may be involved in developing several different plans at once, it is the end result, not the total, that matters.

Thomas Olson is a professional planner, on the staff of state school superintendent Michael Bakalis. While, as Olson says, management planning has been an accepted idea in private industry for some time, it's application to the field of education is quite new.

So now, in fact, that a planner can't plan to become a planner, because no school, to Olson's knowledge, yet offers a full course of study with planner production as its aim. Here and there, however, some isolated courses in educational planning are beginning to appear, he says, though Canada has a formal institute which has the sole purpose of training professional planners.

Olson joined the state superintendent's staff under the administration of former Supt. Ray Page, and became a planner by title in the last few months of Page's administration.

Presently, Bakalis has three planners on the staff, aided by four other section members, including two secretaries.

Primarily, Olson says, the emerging role of planning in education is to shift the emphasis from "crisis management" to a program of planned development—to establish policies under which the office, and ultimately local school districts, will act rather than merely react to situations which already exist.

Presently, the department of development and planning, in which works, has three main aims:

1. Management planning, largely aimed at inter-office communication and work in developing future plans.

2. Assessment and evaluation, aimed at developing methods for use statewide in assessing productivity of Illinois schools. This is an eight-year program.

3. A special planning projects section, which works in such areas as development of a plan for establishing the state board of education required by the new Illinois constitution. Olson foresees an increasing use of planners in education, with a corresponding increase in emphasis on working with school districts more and more.

Eventually, he feels, most school districts will have their own planners at the local level.

While Olson can outline the specific things some planners do, there are some universal things they don't do. Specifically, planners don't make many decisions, and they don't run projects as such. They just plan them.

Who makes a good planner? Someone who relates well to other people, since communication is vital to the job; someone who is highly analytical in his approach to things; someone who questions a lot of basic assumptions; and someone who doesn't accept a thing just because that's the way it is, or the way it's always been.

Olson sees the professional planners' role as becoming increasingly important in coming years.

But he admits that, right now, when he fills out forms and lists his occupation as "planner," people have a tendency to take a second look at him, obviously equating "planner" with "schemer" or "plotter" or both.

He agrees it can be hard to explain just what a planner does. He says he recently overheard his seven-year-old son and a friend comparing their father's jobs.

The friend gave his father's profession its proper title, and listed all the important things he did. Olson's son listened respectfully and then said, "My dad doesn't do nothing. He plans."

State Commission Member Has Become Skilled Author

Copley News Service

Springfield—When Cyrus J. Colter of the Illinois Commerce Commission does a thing, he does it thoroughly.

Once appointed to the commission, he's done his job so thoroughly that he's remained under five different governors and racked up 23 years of continuous service, making him by far the most experienced of the group's membership.

A dozen years ago when his golf foursome broke up and he found time on his hands, he decided to have a go at writing—something he hadn't tried before.

After a few weekends of pecking away, he had a short story he felt was worthy of publication and sent it off to a prestigious New York publication.

"I mailed it in the morning and it seemed like I got it back that same evening, he says. Undaunted, he sent it out again and again.

Finally, he sold it to a literary magazine and Cyrus Colter, author, appeared in print in Japan. That was in 1960, and he was 50 years old at that time of his first sale.

He found it somewhat easier to publish subsequent short stories and, in 1970, he put 14 of them together under the title "The Beach Umbrella," submitting them to the annual competition conducted by the Iowa School of Letters Graduate Workshop (which he had never attended). From among over 200 manuscripts, "The Beach Umbrella" took the $1,000 first prize.

Now, Colter has tried his hand at a novel, "The Rivers of Eros," which has just been released by Swallow Press of Chicago. He has signed a contract with the same publisher to bring out his next novel, already completed and titled "The Hippodrome," next February.

Both novels are set in ghettos of large cities and, for both, Colter says he drew heavily on his more than 30 years' experience as a lawyer on Chicago's South Side.

He himself grew up on an Indiana farm—"a marvelous boyhood"—in a region where three branches of his family have farmed since the 1830s. So the ghetto experience, the squalor and deprivation on which most of today's black writers concentrate, is not in his own experience.

It is also not in evidence in "The Rivers of Eros." There are no violent confrontations, no preaching and no minimalist dialect. The characters speak as they would speak and they speak of the same things, the same needs, the same wants, as anybody else.

"If my book has any 'message' at all," Colter says, "it is just that if we so much as solve the problems we face, people must start showing some compassion toward one another."

Beyond "The Hippodrome," he doesn't discuss his own literary plans. But he predicts that within the next decade or so, many really fine writers will appear on the literary scene. "They have all the necessary ingredients," he says. "They have suffered, they have endured everything, and in a few more years I think the bitterness may be changed, become not softened but more under control. Then they will be ready to really write."

For the same reason he foresees emerging great black writers, he feels the finest recent writers in America, with only two or three exceptions, have been Southern whites. "They've known wide experience, too," he says, "and the Southern white writer is among the most sensitive in the world."

It wasn't Faulkner or Wolfe, however, who moved Colter to try writing, but the 19th century Russians he was reading extensively at the time.

"I just thought what a marvelous thing it would be if someone could depict the American black, in all his variety, honestly and accurately, the way those writings depicted the whole variety of Russian people."

The slide programs and talks presented by Mrs. Burns are available without cost to any club, church or civic organization. Arrangements for a presentation should be made some weeks in advance, she advised.

In addition to International "jaunts" through Europe, South America and the South Pacific, her color slide travel experiences include California, Georgia, Mexico, the New England states, Spain and Hawaii.

"Many organizations like to choose an area and then prepare a special exotic menu to match customs of the country the slide program covers," Mrs. Burns noted.

The travel program director is the mother of four children: Bill, who holds a master's degree in psychology; Jack, a bachelor's degree in marketing; Bob, a pre-med student; and Linda, who is majoring in pharmacology.

Mrs. Burns' parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Brooks, were early settlers in the Venice and Anna areas. She is active with the Collinsville Methodist Church, Business and Professional Women and serves as secretary of the League of Women Voters.

CIRCLE OF FRIENDS. Dr. Earl Miller, a local dentist, talks about dental health and hygiene with 3- and 4-year-olds at St. Peter School for the Young Years. Pre-registration for the fall term will take place from 9 to 11:30 a.m. next Monday through Friday only at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ. A limited number of children will be accepted at the state licensed school.

Pre-School Registration at St. Peter

St. Peter School for the Young Years, located at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, will hold pre-registration next week only, according to Mrs. Ray Werth, director-teacher.

Parents may register children 3 and 4 years old for the fall session from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday. The school follows the public school calendar with hours from 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily. The fall term starts in September. The school, which is licensed through the State of Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, has a limited enrollment in accordance with state requirements. Further information may be obtained by calling the school at 877-1504, or Mrs. Werth, at 831-3762.

A "holding fee" of $10, to apply to the September tuition cost, and a registration fee of $5 (non-refundable) will be required at the time of registration. Tuition for the class will be $2 per day to be pre-paid on either a weekly or monthly basis.

Children may attend on a five-day, three-day or two-day per week schedule. Interested parents are encouraged to visit the school and observe the classes in session. Registration forms and a "Parent's Handbook" are available upon request.

Mrs. Werth, an elementary education graduate of Southern Illinois University, is serving as director/teacher during the current school year.

In discussing the "Young Years" program, she said that through group and individual experiences the children are helped to develop their abilities and attitudes toward themselves, their relationships with others and their understanding of the world around them.

Mrs. James Valbert, also an elementary education graduate of SIU, serves as lead teacher. During the present term, Mrs. Charles Zukas, a teacher's aid, completes the school's staff, Mrs. Werth said.

County Tax Rate Rises

Quad-City taxpayers will pay taxes for county purposes this summer on a new 1971 rate of 43.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation—a rise of 8.8 cents above last year's county rate of 35 cents, County Clerk Eula Hutz has announced.

The new rate is an increase of 25% over the rate by which taxes for county purposes were paid last year, but represents a rise of only 1.5% over the combined rate of the six tax agencies in Granite City township. The overall rate in Granite City township last year was $5.70.

The new county rate reflects increases in virtually all of the county's 17 separate fund accounts despite a $55,925,800 boost in the county's assessed valuation to a total of $896,465,495 for the 1971 tax year.

Last year's rate of 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation was extended against total county assessments of $940,530,655. The county's new assessments include $976,817,365 in local property values, $16,250,430 in railroad assessments and $3,977,700 in capital stock values.

Tax Bill Up
Extension of the new 43.8-cent rate against the new 1971 valuation would produce total taxes of $4,380,518 under a 100% collection, compared to $3,291,888 in tax extensions under last year's rate applied against the 1970 assessments.

On this basis, Madison county taxpayers will be charged this year with payment of $1,072,629 more in county taxes than they were last year. The county tax rate is extended in all of the 24 townships and is paid by all taxpayers in the county, regardless of other taxing areas in which they live.

The 43.8-cent rate announced last week includes 10 cents for the general fund, up from the 1970 rate of 8.72 cents. The rate for the tuberculosis clinic rose slightly to 3.67 cents from 3.26 cents, and the Highway fund rate is 6.75 cents, up from 5.87 cents.

The special bridge fund rate increased to 2.81 cents from 1.92, and the retirement fund rate is set at 5.28 cents, an increase from last year's 4.5 cents.

List Other Rates
Other new rates making up the overall county rate with last year's rate in parenthesis are: Veterans assistance, .94 of a cent (.82 of a cent); Civil defense, .55 of a cent (.61 of a cent); Museum, .54 of a cent (.24 of a cent); County audit, 1.16 of a cent (.14 of a cent); Maps and Plats, 2.27 cents (.83 of a cent); Highway Federal Aid matching fund, 4.75 cents (1.71 cents); Detention home, 1.41 cents (1.38 cents); Detention home bonds, .26 of a cent (.29 of a cent); Mental health, 2.92 cents (2.47 cents); Election expense, .96 of a cent (.39 of a cent); Supervisor of assessments, .97 of a cent (.99 of a cent); Property recording system, 1.96 cents (none).
Miss Hutz said her tax office is continuing with tax extension work and that new rates should be established within the next week for taxing bodies in the Quad-City area.

Driver Charged in Accident; One Hurt

The driver of one car was charged and a passenger in a second vehicle was injured in a weekend accident at Nameoki Road and Jill Avenue, Gary L. Love, 1724 Primrose Ave., was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way on a left turn after his auto and one operated by Michael S. Cross, 2311 Logan St., collided.

Two Thefts Reported

Two thefts were reported early this week to Granite City police. Robert Willard, 3200 Rodger Ave., said his $250 riding mower was missing from his yard. William Jacobs, 3165 21st Ave., said golf clubs in a black bag valued at $225 were taken from his garage. An auto he saw leaving the area had been stolen from Jim Cox, 4107 Kaseberg Lane, and was recovered by Madison County sheriff's deputies Monday at Hunter's Cove.

Hearing on Status of Harold Davis as School Board Member to be Held Monday

A hearing to determine the qualification of Harold Davis to remain on the Granite City Board of Education as a rural representative will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the board of education.

The date was set last Monday night at a meeting of the board which Davis attended. His qualifications as a rural representative have been challenged as he moved from a rural area in Chouteau Township to the urban area of West Granite.

Davis maintains the move is temporary as he is constructing a home on Shiloh Drive, a rural area, and will live there. Davis asked for a continuance beyond next week as a witness will not be out of town, but the board determined that if persons invited to testify are unable to attend, affidavits would be considered at the hearing.

It is the responsibility of the board to determine if Davis is eligible for a seat, members have been told.

Transfer Objections
During the meeting several parents objected to a proposed transfer of 25 children from Frohardt to Nameoki Schools next year.

The administration is making efforts to adjust boundaries of elementary districts, but after hearing parental remarks, the board decided to delay action until a public hearing can be set and held.

According to the parents, children in the neighborhood have always gone to Frohardt, children bused to Frohardt should be moved first, children living in apartments should be moved first because of taxes paid by parents living in homes, adjustment problems, hardship on sixth graders who would be moved again after a year, and sidewalks only on the opposite side of Pontoon Road.

The administration noted that the area now being bused was part of the original Frohardt district, until transferred to Parkview in 1966 and returned to Frohardt in 1969.

The area bused to Frohardt contains about 120 children whose transfer would reduce Frohardt's projected enrollment to 310, the same projection as at Marshall School which has three fewer classes.

The board annexed 67 private homes as well as apartments compared to 87 private homes in the Amos, a Manley and Richmond avenues area where the objectors reside. The report said that some objectors are any range of pupil attendance area must always be expected.

The board renamed the Logan school Annex to the Pre-School Center to reflect the purpose of the building. The annex is to be converted with use of funds under a federal program.

Approve Purchases
The board approved the following contracts and purchase orders:
Judy puzzles and related items from the U. S. Toy Co. for $1,208; library book binding by American Bindery, 1,000 high school yearbooks from Josten's American Co. for $9,712 and 1,000 College Junior High School yearbooks from Herff-Jones Co. for $1,497.

Hot Air Story--Balloon Licensing in Illinois

Capley News Service
Springfield—The hot air business isn't exactly booming in Illinois—at least so far as it refers to lighter-than-air craft. Presently, the only known balloonist in the entire state is Tom Gabel of Eureka, who has the qualified for his Federal Aviation Authority license to operate the craft a couple of months ago.

Other pilots have licenses qualifying them to operate the lighter-than-air vehicles, but they don't actually own one. For rather obvious reasons, the local FAA office doesn't keep a balloon pilot test supervisor on its staff. When Gabel applied, his test was administered by a local office official who agrees he knows somewhat less than very much about hot air ballooning as a sport.

Fortunately, the book says that the applicant must pass a written test, and then prove only that he can fill the balloon safely and successfully; that he can get it off the ground; and that he can land it again.

Obviously, his failure to do any or all of these would have been immediately noticeable by the most unskilled observer, so Gabel passed with flying colors—or flying balloon, as the case may be.

If ballooning isn't threatening the snowmobile as the coming status sport in Illinois, it has been popular and is indeed growing in popularity in other parts of the country.

There is a national organization which has headquarters in Minnesota.

There is a regular magazine devoted exclusively to hot air ballooning. And when financial backing can be found, the balloonists gather together to give mass demonstrations.

There may be a number of places making and selling balloons, but probably the best known is Raven Industries of Sioux Falls, S. D., operated by a member of the Picard family which has long been known for work and research in the lighter-than-air area.

A modern balloon, while it may look like the second cousin to the one that went around the world in so many days, is now made of synthetic, light-weight fabrics.

The gondola is more likely to look like a box than that charming wicker basket. And the balloons are filled by hot air generated by special propane burners.

It's that propane that makes a balloon ascension something you don't just do on impulse—it is estimated that each time aloft costs the balloonist around $100. It seems that nowadays, even hot air isn't cheap.

Neither are the balloons. Reportedly, a new balloon sells for about $5,000, a sizeable amount to pay for the privilege of going up just to get blown around by any winds that are up and around—with almost no control over your own destiny or destination except to decide when to come down again.

Then again, it does look like fun, it's quiet, it's leisurely and graceful, it doesn't contribute to air pollution and there's still plenty of time to be, first

CHIROPRACTIC SCIENCE is explained to Nameoki School students by Dr. E. L. Strotheide, Granite City chiropractor. Models and a human skeleton were used in the talk. Each child was presented a gift from Dr. Strotheide.

Training of Firemen Slated to Be Upgraded

By RAY SERATI
Capley News Service

Springfield—Illinois firemen will be able to go back to school for more training and education if they so desire.

Under provisions of a bill passed in the 1971 General Assembly, sponsored by Sen. Harris Fawell, R-Naperville, cities and villages could be reimbursed by the state for the firemen who return to school. Fire training courses will be developed.

The legislation, signed into law by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, established the Illinois Fire Protection Personnel Standards and Education Commission. Gov. Ogilvie is presently making appointments of local officials to positions on the commission.

One of the prime responsibilities of the commission will be to try to raise the level of local fire protection by upgrading and maintaining a high level of training for fire protection personnel.

When the commission is fully organized it will endeavor to set up the minimum standards for a firefighting training program and other educational matters that would be involved in the teaching of such a course or courses.

The courses probably will be offered by already established institutions of higher learning in the state. It is hoped that eventually a program can be established that will lead to the granting of degrees in fire prevention and fire fighting.

Presently it is anticipated that the course will be for six weeks. It will cover mainly the basic points of fire prevention and fire-fighting. It is expected that the course also will cover the additional duties of an emergency nature which firemen are called upon from time to time to perform.

Under provisions of the bill, the commission would be empowered to use funds for research programs in the field of fire protection, personnel and firefighting. Recommendations will be made by the commission to the General Assembly regarding the entire field of fire protection.

The local government agency will have to require that the trainees attend and pass the basic course within six months of employment or within the probationary period.

Under provisions of the legislation, the local government agency will be reimbursed one-half of the cost or $500 per trainee, whichever is the least.

9% of Teachers in Illinois High Schools Earn $15,000 Yearly Pay

Copley News Service

Springfield — Teachers in Illinois' grade and high schools are getting younger, with more degrees but less experience, and are earning significantly more money than they were just two school years ago.

These facts, and quite a few others, are part of a "profile of Illinois teachers" released by the office of state school superintendent Michael J. Bakalis.

The information about 52,000 full-time elementary and 25,500 full-time secondary teachers was compiled from the Teacher Service Record form submitted each year to the superintendent's office by every school district in the state except for the Chicago public school system.

Women make up nearly four-fifths of the elementary school teachers, comprising 77.9% of the total. Women dominate even with more than 99% of the total teachers for kindergarten through the second grade shown to be women.

The trend is reversed at the secondary level, where nearly three-fifths, or 60.9%, of the teachers are men. "Women's lib" advocates may find material for protest in the fact that 100% of the home economics teachers are women, while 100% of the agriculture teachers are male.

In all, men dominate in nine subject areas—agriculture, industrial education (where they have 98.9%), driver education (88.3%), natural science, social sciences, music, mathematics, physical education and art.

Women make up a majority of Illinois' high school teachers in only four areas — home economics, foreign language, English and business education. The profile shows that a married man who is a teacher is more likely to be working in a secondary than an elementary school, while the married female teacher is more likely to be employed in a grade school classroom.

Average ages of teachers at both levels in Illinois is relatively young—32.8 for elementary teachers and 30.6 for secondary schools.

Between the 1968-69 and the 1970-71 school year, these average ages dropped by two and a half years for elementary teachers, and only 3 years for secondary teachers.

The emphasis on youth is reflected in the fact that more than two-fifths of the grade school teachers and nearly half of the secondary teachers were under 30.

Only 15.7% of the elementary, and 7.8% of the secondary teachers, were 55 years or older.

The average grade school teacher in 1970-71 had 6.5 years of experience, while the average secondary teacher in the same period had 6.7 years, down .9 and .2 respectively from the period two years earlier.

At the same time, the number of elementary teachers without degrees dropped from 8.7% to 5.7% in the two year period, while the percentage of non-degree secondary instructors dropped from .3% to .2%.

In 1968-69, three per cent of the elementary teachers and 1.9% of the secondary teachers earned less than $6,000 annually, a figure which has fallen to .3% and .2%, respectively, in two years.

During the same period, median salaries rose from $7,549 to $8,975 for grade school teachers, and from $9,367 to $10,068 for secondary teachers.

Significantly, while two years ago slightly more than 33% of the grade teachers earned between $6,000 and $7,000, this figure has dropped to only 1.4% in the 1970-71 school year.

In the same period and financial bracket, 20% or one secondary teacher in five, was earning between $6,000 and $7,000, while in 1970-71, only .6% fell into that group.

Two years ago, no elementary teachers earned $14,000 or above, while today, 2.5% do. Two years ago, only 1.1% of high school teachers earned $15,000, where today, 9.1% do.

Shoppers Can Help Control Food Price Rises—Ogilvie

By GOVERNOR RICHARD B. OGILVIE

I am distressed at the rapid rise in food prices—as most everyone is.

First, I am concerned with the effect on families of moderate means or less.

But I am also concerned that the farmer is getting too much blame, when the facts demonstrate otherwise.

The Illinois farmer is about the most productive in the world and contributes a tremendous share of the sales to foreign countries we need so badly.

The hours he works would shock city people, and the risks he takes day in and day out would scare most people half to death.

Yet somebody has to get the blame for rising prices, I suppose—the middleman, the farmer, somebody.

The consumer is partly responsible for his own troubles. For example, he buys more and more foodstuffs that are convenient.

In just five years, for example, the consumption of potatoes which have undergone some kind of processing has gone up 25%, and processing costs money.

This change in buying habits also means that inflation has far more points at which to attack in the process of getting food on the table.

With convenience foods, it's no longer a matter of growing a crop, paying for hauling and storage, and for wholesale and retail trading.

If there is a mysterious "middleman" who pushes prices up, he's a half-donkey middleman who processes raw food, package it, promote it, get housewives to buy it, and hire people to pack it into bags at the check-out counter.

Bad as food prices are, they still take the lowest percentage of the American consumer's net income in our history—15.7%.

And the farmer, our Department of Agriculture tells me, gets only 38 cents from every food dollar we spend—the other 62 cents going to the other links in the long chain between farm and table.

Since 1951, incomes after taxes have gone up 150%, while farmer's prices went up 6% and retail food prices went up 45%.

Another way in which we are actually our own worst enemies—in terms of pushing up prices—is the fine appetites we have developed, particularly for meat.

In 22 years, our average purchase of red meat is mostly beef—have nearly doubled, while the population has not increased that fast.

And with nearly everybody demanding beef at whatever cost, the price is bound to rise.

Yet the rise in meat prices of approximately 35% should be compared with an increase of 18% in housing or 125% for medical care—to mention just a few of our heavy-expense items.

I am not going to advocate that housewives buy live chickens, and save by doing without the convenience of getting cut up, handily packaged, ready-to-try chicken.

But there's never a time that a little sharp shopping — and the ability to say

"no" to out-of-line prices — doesn't pay off.

Egg farmers, for example, have been desperate in recent weeks as prices fell due to an oversupply.

"Jumbo" eggs — honest-to-goodness huge eggs—were selling at 51 cents a dozen at retail this week in Springfield.

And with eight eggs, a half-cup of dried milk, a pat of butter, and sautéed onions, peppers and celery you can make a wonderful main dish omelette for four persons for about 15 cents a person.

Similarly, there are still bargains even in the convenience foods—turkey pies ample for one person at 15 cents each, for example.

But if you insist on steak no matter what, you'll help push prices higher, and you'll further imbalance supplies and demand.

Pot roast is cheaper, virtually the same nutritionally, and with careful cooking can be a treat.

Nobody has yet figured out a way to grow beef that's all steak, after all.

And few housewives today are prepared to give up the convenience of packaged, sliced bread or a frozen pizza for homemade bread and a pizza that starts with flour and water.

If it's worth it to her to have instant mashed potatoes instead of the kind you boil and mash, she's probably going to pay the increased price, none of which gets to the farmer.

Unique Dental Unit Designed for School

When the first class of students at the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern School of Dental Medicine begins clinical work next academic year, much of what is needed will be contained in a tiny unique unit designed by Dan Teague.

"With this mobile unit, the students will be able to perform just about any dental procedure," said Teague, head of technical services at the SIU-SW dental school.

The prototype designed by Teague is 14 inches square and 28 inches high, smaller than units on the open market built for the same purpose. Teague said space will be at a premium in the clinic building now being renovated on the Alton campus of the university, so the unit will be small enough to store underneath students' operators.

"Most of the ideas came from the faculty in the dental school's Clinical Sciences Division," Teague said. "They couldn't find a model on the market that would fit our specific needs, so we drew up our own specifications, built a prototype and put it out for bid."

Besides containing drawers for ample storage space, the unit contains equipment for drilling and filling procedures. "Basically we've got two handpieces, one of them high-speed, the other lower-speed for grinding and polishing," Teague said. "Then there's a water coolant, a water heater, a three-way syringe with air, water and spray capabilities, and an amalgamator to mix the silver alloy and mercury for fillings."

Teague said repairs to the units will be simple to perform and because they are interchangeable, if a student has trouble with one a new one can be brought into the clinical area immediately.

The Treadle of Guadalupe Hidalgo, ending the Mexican-U.S. War, was signed on Feb. 2, 1848.

The first experience Teague came in 1957, as a dental assistant aboard U.S. Navy ship. The Navy later put Teague through dental technician repair school and stationed him at Great Lakes where he spent three years maintaining all the dental equipment in the Ninth Naval District. Teague has ambitions to develop other innovative dental equipment, including a completely cordless handpiece.

"Now you need either electricity or air current to run one," he said. "I think development would be hard to work out, but someday I'd like to find the time to try."

Meanwhile, Teague is keeping busy readying the dental school's equipment for the first class of students in September. "I think the equipment at the SIU-SW School of Dental Medicine is the best I've seen," he said. "We've had time to evaluate equipment from the different manufacturers—we didn't have to make purchases in a hurry and end up getting something because somebody convinced us by shouting the loudest that his model was the best on the market."

Maurine Sampson of Edwardsville is chairman of the Walk for Development, in which individual walkers from within and without the university community find sponsors who pledge five cents to $5 per mile completed.

Miss Sampson said she expects at least 500 persons to begin the 26-mile hike from the hairpin drive at 8 a.m. Proceeds will be divided among the American-Korean Foundation, the International Refugee Committee, the Save the Children Federation and the East Coast Migrant Health Project.

Walkers must be at least 14 years old and if under 21 must have written permission from their parents, Miss Sampson said. Permission forms should be turned in the morning of the walk.

Convention Delegates Here Challenged, Seats in Doubt

Seating of seven uncommitted delegates from this district at the national Democratic convention remains uncertain following a hearing by the credentials committee of the national party in Springfield.

The delegates, all elected from the 22nd Congressional District at the March 21 primary election, were challenged by supporters of Sen. McGovern, who charged that the Madison County Democratic Central Committee supported the slate of uncommitted delegates in violation of party guidelines on sex, age and race.

The district covers 11 Madison County townships, including the Quad-Cities, and all of St. Clair County.

Thirteen witnesses testified at a 3½-hour hearing before Ronald R. Davenport, dean of the Duquesne University Law School in Pittsburgh, who served as hearing officer.

The delegates were challenged by D. Kimble Funk of Edwardsville, Community Involvement Project director at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, through attorneys Dick H. Mudge of Edwardsville and Charles J. Kolker of East St. Louis.

Unsuccessful Candidates

Kolker's wife, Sup, and Mudge, were unsuccessful McGovern delegate candidates.

Funk testified that the slate of uncommitted candidates had no women and only one was black, Elmo Bush of East St. Louis, that all were more than 30 years old, that the slate was formed at a private meeting and that it was supported by the Democratic Central Committee of the two counties.

Selection at public meetings was required by the 1968 national guidelines, it was contended.

Funk added that the challenge was directed to the two county committees and to the Democratic National Committee to "live up to the guidelines adopted in 1968. This is a challenge to the party to adhere to its own rules."

Mudge called Walter T. "Buck" Simmons of Venice and Daniel F. Ring of Belleville, chairmen of the two committees.

Supports Slate

Simmons said the committees did support the uncommitted delegates as a slate but not with the "official endorsement" of either committee.

Mrs. Carmen Deist Kerr, 26, a Bethalto precinct committeewoman and unsuccessful McGovern delegate candidate, displayed advertisements published in county newspapers supporting the uncommitted delegates.

Each advertisement, she said, was marked "paid for by the Madison County Democratic Organization" and was signed by Simmons. She said this violated the national guidelines.

Mudge asked Simmons the amount of funds given to each precinct committeewoman, but Davenport ruled the question out of order. Simmons commented, "I wasn't going to tell you, anyhow."

Sam W. Wolf, Granite City precinct committeewoman and treasurer for the county committee, said, "I probably did pay for the advertisements and the handbills circulated under the committee's endorsement

TEN HIGH BOURBON FULL QUART $4.29

GI Home Loans Up 123% in First Quarter; Still Rising

Forecasts that 1972 would be a big year for G.I. home loans were borne out during the first three months as last year's first quarter records were topped by 123%.

The Veterans Administration reported that it guaranteed 91,200 loans during January, February and March of this year compared to 40,800 during the same period last year. Loans during March reached 33,100, which was 15% over February and 129% over March 1971.

Applications for loans continued to come in at a brisk pace during the quarter as did requests for VA appraisals of homes. Requests leveled off for certificates of eligibility to buy homes with VA guaranteed loans.

Applications Increase

Applications received during the first three months totaled 80,800 for a 43% increase, and the March figure of 36,000 was 34% up from February and 22% over March 1971.

Appraisal requests for the quarter, at 173,500, were up 18% over last year, and the March figure of 69,700 was 22% up from February and 6% over March 1971.

Requests for eligibility certificates, at 208,800, were only a 6% increase over the first quarter of 1971. March with 83,700 requests was up 27% over February but down 3% from March a year ago.

A favorable climate for G.I. home loans is expected to continue because Administration steps to hold the interest rate for these loans at 7% continue to be successful. It reached 8.5 percent in December 1970.

Those eligible for G.I. home loans include: all veterans and eligible widows of World War II, Korean Conflict, Post-Korean Conflict, Vietnam Era and wives of servicemen officially listed as missing in action for more than 90 days; and servicemen who have served on active duty for at least 181 days.

Information on G.I. home loans is available from VA offices and from representatives of local veterans' service organizations.

State Gains $6 Million In Cigarette Tax Case

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott announced Tuesday that more than $6 million will be turned over to the state's general revenue fund as a result of a key revenue victory by his office.

The $6,339,549 represents money claimed by eight cigarette dealers as a cigarette tax discount for their services in affixing state revenue stamps to cigarette packages and for collecting the state tax. The eight suits, filed Aug. 29, 1968, challenged the constitutionality of that part of the Illinois Cigarette Tax Act dealing with the distributor's discount.

Attorney General Scott won an initial victory, July 2, 1969, when Cook County Circuit Court Judge Thomas C. Donovan affirmed Scott's arguments and held the cigarette tax act to be constitutional. However, the $6 million plus was ordered held in a special protest fund pending appeals by the cigarette distributors.

The distributors, in their unsuccessful suits had challenged that part of the cigarette tax act which provides that the distributor's discount be paid on a graduated, rather than flat rate basis. They sought to have the law revert to 1962 when a flat 5% was paid to distributors for affixing the state revenue stamps to cigarette packages and collecting the state tax. Attorney General Scott's final court victory came after the
